

FOUR KILLED IN WRECK

Judith Coplon Guilty

Federal Employee Is Convicted On Spying Charges

Her Attorney Plans To Make Appeal To Higher Court

WASHINGTON, June 30.—(AP)—Judith Coplon was convicted today of being a spy for Russia. The jury convicted her on both counts of the indictment against her. She faces a maximum sentence of 13 years in prison and a fine of $12,000.

The jury announced its verdict shortly after 1:30 p. m. (EST) after having her case in its hands for almost 27 hours. It reported ready to give its decision at 1:10 p. m., 28 hours 58 minutes after receiving the case.

Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves denied a defense plea for a month's delay and indicated he would pass sentence tomorrow at 9 a. m. (EST).

She will remain free on bond at least until then.

The jam-packed courtroom was deathly silent when the jury began filing in at 1:38 p. m. (EST). The former justice department employee was tense as she stood up to receive the verdict.

"The defendant will rise," a marshal cried out.

Jury Filled.

Her attorney, Archibald Palmer, demanded that each juror be polled and this was done by the clerk, Paul A. Roser.

Palmer announced that the verdict will be appealed to the U. S. circuit court of appeals, 4 and if necessary, to the supreme court.

When the jurors had taken their places, Clerk Roser asked: "Have you reached a verdict?"

"We have," Foreman Andrew H. Norford, 34, a telephone company employee, replied.

"Do you wish to say one?" the clerk asked.

"Guilty," Norford replied.

He made the same answer.

House At Austin Facing Fight On Financial Question

AUSTIN, Tex., June 30.—(AP)—House forces opposed to deficit financing organized today for a last ditch fight.

Rep. W. O. Reed of Dallas said he thought he had enough votes to stop any effort by the legislature to approve deficit financing.

The house voted a long morning of speeches unrelated to the waning session's immediate money problems, plunged again at noon into debate on how the state should finance its deficit.

Under consideration was a plan to set aside a part of the state's income each year for five years to take care of building costs without new taxes.

Reed—author of the pay-as-you-go constitutional amendment—opposed several years ago said deficit financing would need a minimum of 120 votes in the house.

The amendment requires that unless money bills can be certified by the comptroller as being within state income, they must receive a four-fifths vote of the legislature.

The state faces a possible deficit of 17 million dollars. The Big Four—state, federal, county and city departments, eleemosynary institutions and colleges, have not yet reached the comptroller.

Rep. Chas. Graham of Junction told the house that the legislature must choose now between a new tax or some other financing plan.

Acceptability Of Truth Serum Test Is Trial Question

ROANOKE, June 30.—(AP)—The legal acceptability of the "truth serum" story Lee Scott told of the church burning slaying of Danny Weaver was left unanswered at his murder trial today.

This story—called the true story by Defense Chief T. Warren Mesick—was an account the high school athlete and choir boy gave of the influence of the drug.

It was that he hit his pretty 16-year-old high school classmate with a pop bottle and choked her in a scuffle because she belittled Jimmy Webb, the school wrestling champion, for an idol in Buddy Scott's eyes.

Mesick sought to bring in an expert of the truth serum test as defense and state sparred on the question whether the girl's death resulted from an unfortunate fight or was a first degree murder motivated by sex.

Counsel argued out the truth serum test in chambers yesterday. Judge Dirk A. Kuyk deferred a decision until the trial.

The state began the fourth day of the trial with Dr. Charles M. Irvin, city coroner, resuming his testimony.

The coroner said death was due to strangulation.

SAM L. MILLER HOPING TO GET HIS FINANCIAL TROUBLES STRAIGHT

MALLEN, Texas, June 30.—(AP)—Sam L. Miller says he's ready for his second step toward straightening out the $221,014 in lawsuits that had his financial holdings tangled up when he got back from Guatemala.

Miller said last night he had made good all back payroll checks of the Hidalgo Packing Company and had paid all employees.

"That's the first thing," he said.

Second, Miller said, he wants to reopen the Mission Foods Corporation. The Rio Grande Valley financier said he might be able to do that by Friday.

It was the main thing he discussed with creditors in a meeting at Mission, Miller said. The session was held yesterday.

Once the Mission Corporation is doing business again, Miller said, his third step will be to get the Hidalgo plant back into operation.

Beyond that he wouldn't discuss his plans. "I'm just working these things out one at a time," he said.

Miller flew back to the Valley Tuesday from Mobile, Ala., scoffing at reports that he had been missing while creditors stacked up suits against some of the eight corporations he heads.

He said he had gone to Puerto Barrios, Guatemala, aboard one of his own banana boats. And anything could have reached him there, he said, by checking with customs.

Miller said the Hidalgo Packing company payroll checks, bounced

Woman Is Killed At Kerens Crossing By Cotton Belt Train

KERENS, June 30.—(Sp.)—One person was fatally injured and another seriously hurt here at 2 p. m. Thursday afternoon when an eastbound Cotton Belt System freight train struck a wagon and team at the Main street crossing.

Mrs. L. Tarkington, 72, of Bissette was killed and her husband, R. L. Tarkington, 72, is in a critical condition with a dislocated hip, shock and head lacerations. He rushed to the F. and S. Hospital in Corsicana in a Corley ambulance since the Sanders Clinic did not have accommodations.

The freight train was proceeding in an easterly direction and the wagon in which Mr. and Mrs. Tarkington was en route home was traveling north.

Witnesses said the train struck the wagon and two occupants to the south side of the tracks, and fatally injuring the two horses drawing the vehicle. The bodies of the horses were on the north side of the track, it was stated.

Funeral arrangements were not known here early this afternoon.

du Pont Sued By U.S. Under Trust Charges

WASHINGTON, June 30.—(AP)—Attorney General Tom Clark today filed suit to break up the du Pont industrial empire.

The attorney general announced that the action, under the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust laws, was filed this morning in the U. S. District Court at Chicago.

Among the major demands of the civil suit are a divestment of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. of Wilmington, Del., from General Motors Corp. of Detroit.

It also asks that the du Pont family be required to release its holdings in the United States Rubber Company of New York.

The suit names as defendants: E. I. du Pont de Nemours, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Christiana Securities Co., Delaware Realty and Investment Corp., Pierre S. du Pont, Lamont du Pont, Irene du Pont, and all members of the du Pont family related by blood or marriage to Pierre, Lamont, or Irene du Pont who hold voting stock in either U. S. Rubber, Christiana Securities or Delaware Realty and Investment Corp.

Clark's statement announcing the suit said that Christiana and Delaware "are personal holding companies of the members of the du Pont family."

Few Changes Are Made in Food Prices Past Week

By The Associated Press.

Housewives stocking the larder for the long holiday week end will find few price changes from a week ago.

Lamb cuts were trimmed several cents a pound in some stores, which were slow to follow the general price slacking of last week. But beef, pork and veal were about unchanged.

Poultry was a little cheaper in some marketing centers, with fryers cut two to four cents a pound. At retail shops, playing picnic menus. Most dairy prices held steady, although top quality eggs eased a penny or two a dozen in a few places.

Even in the produce department, price adjustments were relatively minor.

Tomatoes were unsettled and were expected to decline moderately by Saturday, but a wide range of prices and quality was reported. Green corn and cucumbers edged upward, onions and peaches were a trifle lower.

Charge Of Murder Filed In Case Of Oil Fire Fighter

AMARILLO, June 30.—(AP)—Sheriff Paul Galtner today filed a charge of murder against R. L. Leach in the slaying of W. A. (Tex) Thornton, renowned oil field fire fighter. Leach is not under arrest and his address is unknown.

Thornton, an explosive expert who lived in Amarillo, Tex., but operated in oil fields throughout the world, was found slain last Thursday in an Amarillo motel.

Since then, officers have been seeking a man and woman who went to the motel with Thornton the night before.

Officers have determined that Thornton picked this couple up in New Mexico Wednesday, June 22, and gave them a ride to Amarillo. Leach said he obtained one clue to the man's identity through a pair of bloodstained trousers found in Thornton's cabin at the motel. Leach's name was in the trousers.

"But the best clue," said Galtner, is one given by a bartender at San Jon, N. M.

"While Thornton was bringing the man and woman from New Mexico to Amarillo, the three of them stopped at the bar in San Jon. Sam Poppley, the bartender, heard Thornton call the man 'Leach.' Poppley got a good 20-minute look at the man and the woman."

Galtner said: "I have a hunch Leach and the woman live in Kansas. We're still hunting them in Kansas. I think they probably had come to New Mexico from California or Arizona, but it's my belief they were heading home—to Kansas."

Thornton's skull was fractured in

Congressmen Do What Truman Asks—By Mistake

House Provides For 1,050,000 Housing Units By Error

WASHINGTON, June 30.—(AP)—The house discovered today that by mistake it had passed a housing bill calling for construction of 1,050,000 public housing units.

This is just what President Truman asked, but the house was under the impression it had cut the figure to 810,000 units.

House Speaker Rayburn said a house-senate conference committee will trim it to 810,000.

The mistake occurred during the parliamentary back and forth that preceded house passage of the big bill yesterday, 228 to 185.

When clerks untangled all the parliamentary red tape they found one series of steps had the effect of wiping out an earlier action cutting down the number of public housing units.

The senate passed an 810,000-unit bill on April 15. There are minor differences between the senate and house measures that must be worked out.

Rayburn said the committee to adjust these would fix the figure at 810,000.

Little difficulty in reaching a compromise was predicted.

Supporting the vast program on the final house showdown were 193 Democrats, 34 Republicans and one American Labor party member. Opposing were 131 Republicans and 34 Democrats.

The bill authorizes grants and loans up to more than $14,000,000 over the next 40 years for: slum clearance, 810,000 publicly owned city dwelling units and farm housing aid.

Passage was greeted by a great roar from the Democratic side. For the issue had been in doubt, as the hot six-day debate wound up in a sudden, furious battle.

Opponents, mustering all their strength in an effort to kill the bill if possible, or cripple it in any case, succeeded at one point in reducing the measure to a skeleton of the program Mr. Truman had requested.

Shouting "Socialism" and arguing that the housing costs would imperil the nation's financial stability, a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats mustered 168 votes to the administration's 165 in a drive to kill the publicly-owned housing program.

Two hours later administration leaders asked for a roll call on the public housing section, which accounts for about five-sixths of the money authorization in the bill.

They won by a five vote margin—209 to 204.

Among those who applauded the victory was Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee, who had fought for the bill in the senate.

Girl Attacker Of Baseball Player Adjudged Insane

CHICAGO, June 30.—(AP)—In rapid fire disposal of legal routine, the 19-year-old girl admirer who charged at a baseball game today was adjudged insane and committed to Kankakee State Hospital.

The girl, Ruth Ann Steinhagen, appeared in felony court with the charge of criminal court. This was the first time she has been in court since she shot him in a hotel room June 16.

Her attorney, Michael Brodtkin and George Bleber, prepared a petition stating the former typist "cannot cooperate with counsel and cannot understand the nature of the charge."

The indictment was returned against Steinhagen and the girl appeared before Judge Matthew D. Hartigan of the felony court who ordered her held to the grand jury and fixed her bond at $50,000.

After a recess of several days for a grand jury to act on a recommendation of the felony court, it was the first time Steinhagen left the hospital since Miss Steinhagen shot the Phillies star after hurling him to her hotel room.

Sitting in an adjoining room, Miss Steinhagen said she was "thrilled" by a glimpse she got of Walkus as he passed in the courtroom.

"Are you thrilled about seeing him again?" she was asked.

"And how," she answered. "I always will be."

"I'm scared and excited," she said. "I suppose every one else is mad at me. I'm sorry for all the suffering I made him go through. I feel the same as ever—even more so. I still care for him."

Navarro County's Second Case Of Polio Reported

Navarro county's second polio case of this year was reported today by Dr. Will Miller, acting director of the Corsicana-Navarro Health Unit.

An 18-year-old youth, Richard Z. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hall, who live about three and one-half miles from Corsicana on the Country Club road, was taken to a Waco hospital Wednesday night after he developed polio symptoms. His condition was diagnosed at the hospital today.

A brother of the young man said Richard had been attending Texas Tech College at Lubbock until about three weeks ago, and had been working recently. The brother said Richard had been ill for about a week and became steadily worse after Monday. He said he had difficulty in talking and walking.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hall went to the Waco hospital with their son.

Truman To Keep Up His Fight On Taft-Hartley Act

WASHINGTON, June 30.—(AP)—President Truman said today he is going to continue to fight for the repeal of the Taft-Hartley act as hard as he can.

His comment at a news conference came after the senate had passed a labor bill, designed by Senator Taft (R-Ohio), which contains basic provisions of the Taft-Hartley law.

Mr. Truman declined, when questioned, to say whether he will veto the Taft bill if it reaches him.

Three Others Are Injured In Crash On Railway Track

Pick-up Truck Hit By Cotton Belt Passenger Train

Four persons were killed and three were injured shortly after noon Thursday when a south-bound Cotton Belt passenger train plunged into a pickup truck at a grade crossing near the Corsicana Fair Grounds.

The dead, all negroes of the Corsicana area, were identified as:

Mary Deckard (age unavailable), Georgia Mae McCarter Lewis, 22.

Tony Barchum, 42 Corsicana cab driver.

Ethel Graves, 18.

Drivers of the truck in which eight persons were reported riding—five in the back and three in the cab—was J. W. Dial, a white man who was rushed to the Navarro Clinic.

The other injured were: Walter Carter, negro, a leg injury; taken to the Navarro Clinic.

Lucile Carroll, negro; taken to Corsicana Hospital and Clinic. Conditions of the injured were not immediately determined.

The accident occurred about 12:15 p. m. as the pickup truck moved onto the inclined rail crossing in a northerly direction. The train, going west, was engineered by J. W. Whitney, and the conductor was George Bounds, both of Tyler, according to Cotton Belt officials here.

One of the seven persons in the vehicle, J. T. Williams, narrowly escaped death or possible serious injury by leaping from the truck just before the collision, witnesses said.

The four fatalities marked the seventh for Navarro county this year.

Bodies of the dead negroes were taken to the Ross and Calhoun Funeral Homes.

Sheriff David Castles, his deputies, Raymond Myrick, and R. E. Jones, rushed to the wreck scene. Constable Joe Allen and the highway patrol also assisted in the investigation.

The truck, practically demolished, was towed away by Robert Owen Wrecker Service.

The entire group was believed to have been field hands employed on a farm operated by Dial.

Two-Day Study Of School Program Closed Thursday

A two-day study of the new Texas Foundation School Program ended here Thursday, and field representatives who directed the sessions praised the administrators and questions of administrators.

A similar conference, at which the Gilmer-Alkin legislation will be interpreted and discussed, will be held at Waco Friday and Saturday for school officials in that seven county area.

The two-day session was climaxed Thursday by individual conferences on specific problems and questions of administrators.

R. C. Beauchamp, superintendent of Schools, Beckville, and Bob Ashworth, principal of Tyler High School, conducted the discussions with representatives from the Foundation School Program Division of the State Auditor's office.

A general session Wednesday morning opened the meeting, and administrators were familiarized with the qualifications of teaching personnel, salaries and the minimum number of employees based on the number of students.

Russia Reported Blocking Trucks On Berlin Route

BERLIN, June 30.—(AP)—German police today reported Soviet troops have refused to let some 80 German trucks carrying food and medicine to Berlin in the past 24 hours because of alleged irregularities in travel papers.

The Russians, however, have not completely stopped incoming trucks. Several dozen were allowed to go through this morning.

The Russians claimed that the trucks required a Soviet signature underneath their Soviet stamp, and who were on their travel orders when they crossed into the Soviet zone at Helmstedt.

The 80 halted trucks were advised by Soviet guards to obtain a clearance signature at the Soviet checkpoint near the town of Helmstedt, which they would be allowed to proceed to Berlin.

A British official said one truck already had completed and had been allowed to complete its journey to the city.

West Berlin's rail system is still idle but the Russian-directed redbahn said it hoped to resume service tomorrow.

Inspection teams have finished a checkover of the system, stalled by five weeks of strike and the power has been turned on.

VISHINSKY DECLARES PROPOSALS OF RUSSIA TRIUMPHED AT PARIS

LONDON, June 30.—(AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky disavowed sharply today with Dean Acheson's analysis of the Paris Big Four meeting and declared Russian firmness forced a western retreat.

Vishinsky said the agreements reached at Paris differed "seriously" from the original proposals put forward by Britain, France and the United States.

On the other hand, he added, after careful reading of the communiqué issued by the Big Four, it was not difficult to see how the basic ideas of the proposals submitted by the Soviet delegation in the council of foreign ministers during the very first days of its work.

In a 4,200-word statement distributed here, Vishinsky differed with the U. S. secretary of state on the progress of the Marshall plan and whether it was Russia or the west who wanted to give the Germans more freedom.

Acheson told a Washington news conference after his return from Paris that Russia had been put on the defensive in the struggle for Europe and was afraid to relax its iron grip on eastern Germany because they knew they would no longer be able to control the German people if they did so.

Acheson said the reason for the strength of the west in the Paris sessions was "the progress that has been achieved in the restoration of western Europe."

Vishinsky, taking a complete opposite view, said:

"I think that precisely the 'fall' of western Europe."

Sales Of Bonds Amount To 80.47 Percent Of Quota

Navarro county had reached 80.47 percent of the quota in the opportunity campaign for the purchase of U. S. Savings bonds at the end of last week, June 25, according to information received from Joe E. Butler, campaign manager.

The campaign is slated to close Thursday, but the final report will not be completed for three weeks and the county chairman and his committee have hopes that the $100,000 quota assigned Navarro county will be reached.

The sales through last Saturday amounted to $129,913.75 in E bonds. E bond sales of surrounding counties and the percentages include:

Henderson—$38,707.50—110.59 percent; Freestone—$41,498.75—108.73 percent; Limonette—$77,726.25—78.33 percent; Ellis—$129,479—87 percent; Hill—$76,785.75—43.32 percent.

The state sales of $32,637,000 through last Saturday represented 88.3 percent of the quota of $36,980,000.

Nathan Adams, Dallas, chairman of the advisory committee for Texas, predicted that while this percentage is slightly below the national average, it indicates that Texas will be over the top well before July 15—the final deadline for counting E bond sales.

FINEST WATERFALL

The least known great waterfall in the world, and the most impressive, is the way Edward C. Rashleigh describes the Paula Affonso on the Sao Francisco river in Brazil. Rashleigh is a British geographer who has seen most of the world's great cataracts and some years ago wrote a book describing them, "Among the Waterfalls of the World." They have now been brought to American attention by the visit here of President Dutra of Brazil, who reports that Paula Affonso is to be harnessed to make a Brazilian TVA.

The falls and river on which they are situated are equally unfamiliar to most Americans. Yet the Sao Francisco is over 1800 miles long, and is reckoned the 16th or 17th largest river in the world. Paula Affonso is located only 200 miles from its mouth, which is unusual, as most waterfalls are found early in a river's progress. It is heralded by tremendous rapids which Rashleigh calls incomparably the most magnificent in the world, even surpassing Niagara. This is certainly the highest praise possible. The falls are about 200 feet high, higher than Niagara, and have the fourth largest volume of water of any of the world's great cataracts. The three leaders are Guaya, another Brazilian fall which is not even a name to most Americans; the Kohn cataracts of the Mekong river in Indo-China, and Niagara. In the future wonders like Paula and Guaya will become better known to travelers. It is devoutly to be hoped that in the meantime their splendor is not destroyed by the generations of power companies. That has happened to more than one magnificent fall in the United States. With a little architectural forethought, power may be used without destroying beauty.

THE PAY OF CONGRESS

If Congress is so anxious to cut federal expenditures, why not begin with their own salaries? This suggestion, perhaps not altogether serious, is made by Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland.

There might be justice in the idea that any cuts in salaries in the executive department should be matched by those in the legislative. As a matter of fact, federal salaries are not too high, and do not account for much of our high expenditure. Good salaries are needed to attract good men. Indiscriminate reductions will ultimately cost the government more than they save, by forcing an inferior type of official into the public service.

TARHEEL SECRETARY

The secretaryship of the navy used to be a North Carolina specialty. The appointment of Gordon Gray as Secretary of War may mean that the Tarheel State is now going in for land supremacy instead. Kenneth C. Royall, Gray's predecessor, was also from North Carolina. Two sons of that state in succession to head the War Department should give North Carolina almost a title-deed to the secretaryship.

Formerly North Carolina was strong on secretaries of the navy, having more than any except New York. The most notable was Josephus Daniels, who managed naval affairs during World War I, with the help of an assistant named Franklin D. Roosevelt. Daniels' son, Jonathan, was prominently mentioned for the appointment which ultimately went to Gray, but either he did

KIND WORD FOR MILLIONAIRES.

"It's plain today that no one cares
To speak in praise of millionaires.
We'll feed the beggar on the street.

Be kind to every dog we meet,
But millionaires are viewed with hate,
And sorry is the rich man's fate.

At men who reach the top at last
The bitterest terms of scorn are cast.
No politician shrewd would dare
To praise the local millionaire.
'Twould cost him votes if he were heard.
To speak of him one gracious word.

So, out of fairness, now I pen
These few kind words for wealthy men.
Few hospitals could larger grow
Without the gifts the rich bestow,
And sad would be all churches'
plight
Dependent on the widow's mite.

The Red Cross, year by year, depends
On many a rich man's dividends.
Few gracious charities could live Were there no rich men glad to give.
So many deeds of kindness theirs,
Let's thankful be for millionaires.

not want it or influential advisers of the President did not want it for him. Accounts differ; at any rate
Gray was the final choice, aided doubtless by being already assistant secretary.

The selection of Gray has another aspect. It illustrates anew the President's tendency, where possible, to choose cabinet officers outside of the big industrial states. This may be a good idea. It is easy to think of a New York or Pennsylvania man who is qualified to fill a vacant post; often just as good a man or better comes from some other section of the country. This argument of location can be overdone, but it should not be neglected.

INDUSTRIAL MAP CHANGES

British Columbia promoters are reported to be planning the development of that province's water power, potentially one of the most valuable in the world, and in particular concentrating on the production of aluminum. They paint pictures of great cities located in the future on sites that are uninhabited today.

The rise of oil to first importance in industry bids fair to bring industry and population to parts of the world that have had neither, such as Arabia. On the other hand, more reports are coming of the exhaustion of the Mesabi iron deposits in Minnesota, just as new sources have been discovered in Labrador. This might result in a wholesale shift in the location of the steel industry.

The economic picture of the world was fairly stable for a long time. Now there are intimations that 100 years from now, or even less some of today's prosperous areas may suffer the fate of boom mining towns, and regions now little regarded from the industrial standpoint may be the future industrial centers.

NEW TRUTHS AND OLD

"I have never felt the need of any other ideas than those in which I was soaked from birth onwards. Thanks to them I have always had a perfect knowledge of what was truth."

These appalling words by the French essayist, Maurice Barres, might have been uttered in the United States in fact, while they may not be so frank in admitting that their minds are shut to new ideas, persons just as hide-bound as Barres are to be found on every street.

While there are many old truths which are indeed
"eternal verities," truth is never necessarily at odds with new ideas.

MORE TREES

Travelers returning from the western states to Ohio and points East often speak of their renewed appreciation of the trees which beautify the landscape in these sections.

The great western states are now beginning, however, to benefit by the tree-planting project started in the depression days as a WPA undertaking. The shelter-belt program sponsored the planting of 220,000,000 trees between 1936 and 1948.
Eighty-five per cent of these have survived drought years.
They have checked erosion, held moisture, and tempered

SOMETHING STIRRING

the hot winds of the plains.
Better crops have resulted from their shade, and during last winter's blizzard they saved the lives of many cattle who sheltered under them.

Nebraska reports two and a quarter million trees planted this spring by members of the federal Soil Conservation Service, continuing this work.

A landscape dotted with trees pleases the eye with its beauty and is soothing and restful. Tourists, driving over long miles of sun-baked pavement, greet with relief an elm or maple-bordered village street. Roadside tree-planting in rural areas would be enthusiastically approved by the nation's drivers.

BOSTON AND CURLEY

If Jersey City can overthrow an entrenched political machine, why not Boston?
Good citizens of the Hub are asking themselves
this question as the time draws near for the mayoralty election. The target of their thinking is Mayor James M. Curley, serving his fourth term of four years, minus a few months in federal prison for using the mails to defraud.

Curley is going to run again. He always runs, and to Boston's credit it has several times defeated him.
four years ago his opponents were singularly weak, and he had no trouble in getting elected. His political foes hope that things will be better this year.

A fundamental weakness in Boston, as with other cities, is that the wealthiest and most intelligent citizens (who are not necessarily the same) live in the suburbs.
They do business in Boston, but have no legal say as to the character of the city government.

On this account, Curley, who is 75, might be able to make good his threat to stay in office until he is 125. No city, not even Boston, should receive such punishment.

SMELLS AND HEALTH

You may not like foul smells, but at least they will not kill you. This cher-ful message comes from Dr.
Anthony J. Lanza of the New York University Bellevue Medical Center addressing the Smoke Prevention Association of America.

Industrial contamination of the air seriously interferes with human well-being, says Dr. Lanza, but it does not usually cause disease or death. Cars emit enough carbon monoxide to kill large numbers of the population, in theory. In practice no such calamity occurs outdoors. Rare indeed are the wholesale deaths from air pollution such as those at Donora, Pa., last year.

This confirms the military experience with poison gas, which proved too unmanageable and uncertain to justify the work spent on it. In this respect the prophecies that a second world war would be even more grim and horrible than the first, because of poison gas, were wrong.

It is comforting to learn that the residents of smokeshrouded communities are not likely to be slain by their atmosphere. But the knowledge makes the smoke and odors no more pleasant, and makes lungs coated with soot no more healthy. Air pollution is unnecessary; it might as well be rid of it.

CHANGING GREENLAND

Greenland is getting warmer, according to the Danish prime minister, Hans Hedtoft. This includes the surrounding waters, so that cod are coming to Green-land's shores and seals are leaving it. As cod fishermen do more direct trading than seal hunters, this has resulted in an increase in retail stores.

In spite of the popular concept of Greenland as a land of the "icy mountains"
mentioned in the hymn,
there is a good deal of fertile soil, permitting the growth of grass and flowers. And there is a permanent settlement of Danes and Eskimos with money and leisure enough to support an Eskimo monthly magazine.

This has the engaging title of Atuagagdliutit, and has been going since 1861. Copies are in several large American libraries.

Greenland got its name
originally as a promoter's stunt. Erik the Red, who found it in 987, thought that it would attract more settlers if it had a taking name; so he called it Greenland. As a matter of fact, the fertile part of the island would seem green to anyone who,
like Erik, came from Iceland, whose dominating color is that of bare rock.

If the climate is really getting warmer, Greenland may yet deserve Erik's name.

When people begin to bemoan the "poor Spaniards" because Uncle Sam does not recognize the Franco regime they forget one important fact: it never does a people any good to support a dictator. It would be no kindness to Spain to bolster up Franco.

This is the time of year
when unpoetical weather experts call for "a mass of cold air" and don't get it.

The Republic of Brazil is bounded by all except two of the South American republics as well as the three Guianas.
Remains of stone-age cakes,
made of coarsely-ground grain,
were found in the Swiss lake-dwellings.

1000 Turn Out To Welcome Chinese Child To America

NEW YORK, June 30.—(P)—A crowd of 1,000 turned out at La Guardia Field last night to welcome a six-year-old Chinese girl to her new country, and her new home.

Among them was the child's new foster father-to-be, Frank J. Chisari, a 24-year-old radio technician. He wept as he hugged and kissed the girl, known only as Ann.

Four years ago, when Chisari was a GI in Kunming, China, he found the girl wounded beside the body of her mother. He took care of her, nursed her back to health. For a long time, Chisari had been fighting to get the girl to this country. Learning of his efforts, the New York Daily News sent a reporter and photographer to get her. As they landed at the end of the 12,000-mile flight, a loud cheer went up from the crowd, which had waited for hours at the field. They included members of a Chinese American Legion post.

The State Department later gave the child special consideration to get in under the Chinese immigration quota.

Ann was little more than a baby when Chisari left her in a Lutheran orphanage in China. But when he picked her up yesterday, she threw her arms around his neck.

Chisari and his wife, Antoinette, 25, have two other children, a girl the same age as Ann and a boy two and a half. He said he planned to bring up Ann as his own daughter in a strictly "American way."

Nursing Needs Career Girls

By THELMA LAIRD, R. N., American Nurses' Association.

The registered professional nurse is an important player on today's health team, helping to make the American dream of health and good medical care for all come true.

Of all those on this medical-sociological team engaged in conserving life, curing illness, preventing disease and disability, the nurse spends most time in intimate contact with the patient and often interprets and adapts the contributions of the other members.

THELMA LAIRD, R. N.

bers. Thus, nursing offers unique opportunities to the person whose human interest is as strong enough and responsive enough to constitute a real "gift" for people.

There are five major fields for the registered nurse: (1) hospital and other institutional, (2) public health, (3) education, (4) private practice, (5) industrial.

The registered nurse may be a staff member or a director of a hospital nursing service, working in one of the specialties, such as surgery, psychiatry, tuberculosis, pediatrics. She may participate in important research. She may be a visiting nurse, the nurse in an industrial plant, or a nurse consultant. She may be an instructor or director in a hospital or university school of nursing, or an expert on a surgical operating team. She may teach in or direct a health education program using public speaking, writing, and other creative talents. In war or peacetime she may serve her country as an officer in the Nurse Corps. She may join a federal agency such as the Veterans Administration, Indian Service, of Public Health Service. She may travel, or work in foreign countries in missions, foreign government posts, business enterprises, or round-the-world health and post-war rehabilitation projects.

To become a qualified nurse, a high school graduate should be a good student, in good health, an accurate worker, a conscientious person, a stable personality, and a truly sympathetic, friendly person.

Since the demand for nurses grows constantly, job security is favorable. Like teaching, social work, and other service professions, the nursing profession's active program for better pay and working conditions has brought marked gains.

Annual salaries for hospital staff nurses range from $1,800-$2,640. In public health, the young nurse may receive $2,200-$3,800. Usually private duty brings $8-$10 per 8-hour day. For the nurse with advanced education and experience, many opportunities offer higher salaries. Many hospitals are offering the 40-hour week and schools of nursing are finding that good times are as wholesome for nurses as for other young people.

How does one get started? The most important step is choosing a GOOD school. (1) You may write to the National League of Nursing Education, 1790 Broadway, New York 19, N. Y., for advice on schools, scholarships, and so on. (2) Contact the professional nurses' association in your state and community. A letter to the American Nurses' Association, 1790 Broadway, New York 19, N. Y., will give names and addresses of persons in your area who can give you dependable information and advice.

Who'll Tell Junior Facts Of Life?

By DAVID TAYLOR MARRAS, AP Newfeatures.

"Who's going to tell them the facts of life?" challenges Leonard C. Murray, director, division of health education, of the Iowa State Department of Health.

Writing in the "Midland Schools" a publication of the Iowa State Education Association, Murray says the kids want to know, but no one will tell them.

"Less than 25 percent of the homes are attempting to face this responsibility," says Murray. "If 75 percent of our youngsters are not being given the proper instruction in the home—which incidentally is the proper place for sex instruction to be given—what are educators going to do about this important aspect of the education of our youth?"

There are four roads or a combination of four roads for our youngsters to travel which will lead to an understanding of the subject of sex. These are the home, the school, the church, and the street, he says.

The home should begin the job as soon as the child asks those questions. But rearing a child requires on-the-job training.

The parent must have preparation in order to answer his child's questions. Parents should give much thought to these problems; and the vast majority must read, study, and plan their approach to the task before them. One question which the parents must first answer is: "Who is going to do the job?" If the parents fail, then the element of chance enters the picture.

The school, too, must be prepared to take over its share of the task, he says. That phase of education must be added to our courses in teacher training.

The third road leading toward an understanding of the problem of sex education is that of the church. Many of our churches already have accepted some responsibility in presenting this phase of a child's education, he says. Some are doing a superb job, while others are merely handing out leaflets with the implied admonition, "Here, son, read it for yourself." That, of course, is better than most homes are doing. Here again, however, there is a tendency to wait until the fourth factor has made too many inroads into the thinking of the child. "When the time comes for that young mind to be informed, we must candidly recognize that young people are going to ask questions. 'They'll find some source of knowledge, be it good or bad,' he says, "and that brings us to the fourth road—the street."

Yes, youth get the answers. But what can be done to insure that it gets the right answers? Here are some types of activity that have successfully carried on throughout the nation, says Murray.

Get the support of local organizations and emphasize the fact that sex education should begin in the home.

WASHINGTON LETTER.. by Jane Ends

WASHINGTON—No one could accuse Tom Griffin, used car dealer of being subversive. His primary interest is in selling cars, he said, not the Communist Party.

"There's so much stuff in the papers about Communism these days," he told me, "I just thought the best way to get people to read ads about selling cars was to write the kind I do."

Here's the one that attracted me: "Fellow workers You can bet your bottom ruble on these bourgeois bargains just like the capitalists drive! All have new cars 'no escape' guaranteed."

Then Tom Griffin goes on to list a '49 Ford station wagon 10 ml. Save $250 and a '49 Olds '58 Conv. 50 ml. save $200 and "cheaper" such as a '41 Ford $395 and a '38 Lincoln $495.

"Join the mass switch to Calvert Motor Company," he urges.

The ads, which have been running over the past month, he says don't have a "darned thing to do with automobiles, but they sure bring in business."

"Cranks call in occasionally, but I have yet to hear from the FBI," he says. "I don't worry about the cranks, and if I thought people were getting the idea I had Communistic leaning I'd cut out the ad idea right off. But they're sure paid off, bringing in more prospective buyers and creating a) percent more interest than any ordinary ad I've ever used."

"Ivan the Terrible didn't care how you felt We do. We want everybody to look like a capitalist dog and feel like a capitalist dog in today's bourgeois bargains at Calvert Motors."

And another:

"Are you a member of the great unwashed? If so, you can go to the Dneiper. But if you are a member of the great bourgeoisie just as you can join the mass switch to Calvert."

"Goofy," says Tim Griffin, "but they sell autos."

material so that parents who were not taught by their parents will be able to prepare themselves. Schools provide also, lectures and discussion groups for parents.

3. School nurses should be asked to present sex education, with the assistance of parent groups.

4. Health education forums could be held where parents' responsibility for teaching sex education would be presented.

5. Sex education moving pictures presented to parent groups to help them secure information as to how these facts might be presented to their children.

What are the states doing about sex? An eye-opener just has come to hand in Robert W. Shurwin's "Sex and the Statutory Law," (Oceana Publications, 461 W. 18 Street, NYC, 2.50.) It's a comparative study and survey of the manner in which the law and the legislative treat sex problems. The author has actually collected, described and explained every law in all 48 states.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Now I'm Going Back To High School!

When I saw lights burning in the High School auditorium last night, I looked in to see what went on. About twenty people were listening to Buzz Ellis, the electrician, talk about television.

I slipped into a back seat and asked Hap Thomas what was up. Hap told me it was the new Self-Improvement Club. I stayed to listen—and learned a lot. Buzz really knows his stuff.

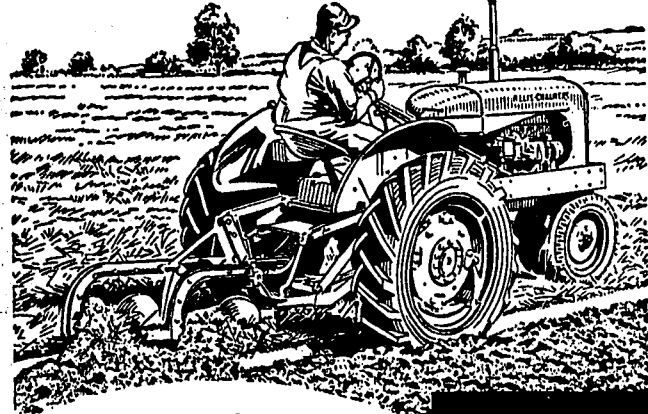

Turns out this club meets every Friday night. Each member gives a talk on the subject he knows most about. I joined on the spot because learning new things is one of my favorite hobbies.

From where I sit, it's willingness to learn from the other person that makes Americans tolerant towards so many different viewpoints and tastes in things. Just because Buzz Ellis goes for chocolate malteds, while I prefer a mellow glass of beer, doesn't mean I'm right and he's wrong. Incidentally, next week I'm going to talk on how to run a newspaper.

Recreation Plan Is Explained At Civitan Meeting

The history and functioning of the summer recreation program for Corsicana's boys and girls was given to the Corsicana Civitan Club by three speakers Thursday. Luther Johnson, Jr., explained the sponsorship of the movement and Dorothy Martin and H. C. Allen, who direct the boys and girls activities, respectively, told how the recreation program was actually carried out.

Softball, Allen said, comprises the major sport for the boys, and only rain or illness prevents them from showing up at the appointed times at the various sites over the city.

Miss Martin reported that "the girls are interested," but that softball fails to draw the female contingent as well as other sports do. The girls now participate in a varied program that includes volleyball, horseshoe pitching and square dancing.

Both Allen and Miss Martin invited Civitan members to visit the various playgrounds.

From a bare beginning, the program has grown so that it now has a membership of 650 and a $3,500 yearly budget. Thirteen supervisors are hired to direct the play, Johnson reported.

Those behind the program eventually hope to get the funds for such a yearly program included in the city's budget, Johnson said.

Tom Orr brought the program for the day.

Visitors were Hugh Hardy, Bunc Cloud and Russel Purifoy Jr.

VISHINSKY

ures of the Marshall plan should be regarded as one of the reasons for the departure of the three (western) ministers at the Paris session from their original so-called "firm policy."

Vishinsky charged Acheson with a "groundless" assertion in saying the Russians were afraid to grant freedom to the Germans.

"How," he asked, "is one to explain the fact that both he and his western colleagues resolutely objected to all the proposals of the Soviet delegation directed precisely at restoring the unity of Germany and giving the Germans freedom in their own affairs?"

The Soviet spokesman said the most important result of the Paris meeting was "the undoubted failure of the policy of splitting Germany and of aggravating international relations and the undoubted success of the policy of restoring the unity of Germany and of improving international relations for international cooperation."

"No matter how the three western governments may try to deny this," he said, "the facts remain that the communiqué (issued by the four powers) xxx is drawn up in the spirit of the Soviet proposals."

LEGISLATURE

If a special session is to be avoided, Graham and others backed the five-year, no new-tax idea.

Some opponents preferred to delay the issue, force a special session and pass a tax bill to raise the building funds.

One amendment was placed on the Graham proposal, giving the legislature authority to create a state building commission.

The three-man commission would study the state's building needs. It would purchase property and enter into contracts for construction, repair, and modification of buildings.

The comptroller would set aside four and one-half per cent of all taxes, licenses and fees, not already earmarked for specific use, to go in the building fund for four years. One and one-half per cent would go to the fund for one year thereafter.

Three million dollars of the surplus in the Confederate pension fund would be allocated to construct a "Confederate Soldiers Memorial Building"—a state office building.

The house yesterday passed a number of local and uncontested bills.

One measure legalized shipment of horsemeat between 10 p. m. and 4 a. m. if the meat is in plainly marked packages of less than five pounds. This amendment passed early in the session making it unlawful to ship horse meat at night.

Other bills finally passed would: Allow North Texas State College at Denton to sell two houses. A minor amendment was added, sending the bill back to the senate.

DUPONT

said they understood that no one outside of the family holds stock in these companies, which in turn control E. I. du Pont de Nemours Co.

Clark asserted: "This case is directed to the breaking up of the largest single concentration of industrial power in the United States."

The rise of du Pont, General Motors, and United States Rubber to positions of market dominance in their respective fields has been marked by the elimination of many independent businesses and a decline in the strength and vigor of those that survived.

The relief sought in this case will open the way for small and medium-sized manufacturers to compete for business in markets which have long been closed to them.

The Chicago court was asked specifically to order: 1. The sale by the du Pont company of its 10,000,000 shares of stock in General Motors Corp.

2. The sale by members of the du Pont family of all of their stock in U. S. Rubber, described as representing a 17 per cent interest "sufficient to give them control since the remaining shares are held in small amounts by about 14,000 stockholders."

3. The sale by the du Pont company of its business of making tetraethyl lead, ethyl fluid, and ethyl fluid, preferential price."

4. The sale by General Motors of its 50 per cent stock interest in the Ethyl Corp., which makes ethyl anti-knock fluid for blending with gasoline.

5. The sale by du Pont and General Motors of their respective interests in Kinetic Corp., which manufactures prefabricated structures.

6. The cancellation of all existing contracts between du Pont, General Motors, and U. S. Rubber relating to sales of products, grants of licenses, agreements to license under patents, and agreements providing for the exchange of know-how."

The suit alleged that the defendant corporations had violated anti-trust laws through agreements to purchase supplies from one another, by acquiring competing concerns and by employing "secret" price-fixing agreements.

NEW YORK, June 30.—(AP)—E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Co., the nation's largest maker of industrial chemicals, also turns out just about everything from women's hosiery to explosives.

The company, which listed its assets at $1,585,000,000 as of last Dec. 31, has some 1,200 different product lines.

Strands of these products reach the consumer as part of other manufacturers' products and hundreds more carry the du Pont label.

The company says 23 per cent of its output—the largest classification—goes to the textile industry. Included are rayon, nylon, other synthetic fibers, and dyes.

Other du Pont products include such widely diversified products as plastics, paints and enamels, film, synthetic rubber, anti-freezes, and explosives.

Although the company founded in 1802 by Eleuthere Irenee du Pont on $35,000 of borrowed capital began as a maker of gunpowder for a pioneer country, explosives now represent only a minor part of its output.

IN BOATING ACCIDENT—Hit by a speedboat while swimming in Lake Tahoe, Imogene Wittsche, 13 (above) of Roseville, Calif., is in grave condition in Washoe General hospital in Reno, Nev., following amputation of both legs below the knees. At Placerville, Calif., Henry Lyon, district attorney of El Dorado county, in which the accident occurred, named Phil Davis, Oakland, Calif., automobile dealer, as the operator of the craft and said either state or federal charges would be placed against him. Davis is said to be "flabbergasted" when told of the accident. (AP Wirephoto).

Miss Sue Trone, Bride-Elect, Is Honored At Tea

Miss Sue Trone, bride-elect of Richard Cummings, was named honoree Wednesday afternoon, June 29, for a tea given by her sister, Miss Hazel Deason, in the Henderson home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Deason.

Mrs. Roy Carlisle, sister of the hostess, presided at the register table, and receiving the guests were Miss Deason, Miss Trone, Mrs. Harold Trone and Miss Inez Scott. Mrs. Trone will be matron of honor in the wedding party, while Misses Deason and Scott are to be bridesmaids.

Interest was centered on a miniature arrangement of miniature bride and groom standing beneath a white-arched canopy, and the glow of bordering tapers. Clusters of white wedding bells were suspended above the room, and others in miniature were used on a coffee table with white daisies. Pink rosebuds cascaded from an antique pitcher in still another arrangement on an occasional table.

A pink organza cloth was used as an effective background for the tea table centerpiece of muted pink, blue and green Maroon daisies. The colors were repeated in the individual cake squares, and white scalloped napkins, lettered in blue, carried the names of the bride and groom.

Miss Dorothy Morris presided at the crystal punch bowl, and Mrs.

Justin C. Green served the cake. Other members of the houseparty were Mrs. C. E. Johnson, Miss Joy Cooke and Mrs. D. F. Deason.

It was reported that as Mrs. Ferguson slowed her car at a site where highway repairs were under way, another car allegedly struck her car, causing the Ferguson vehicle to involve a third one—sending all three into a ditch. No one else was hurt sufficiently for hospitalization, it was reported.

HARVEST FIELD AIR CONDITIONED—With Kansas temperatures climbing past the 90 mark, John Blackwell, Pawnee county wheat farmer, rigged this air-conditioning device on his combine near Great Bend, Kas. Atop an improvised shade roof, Blackwell mounted a squirrel cage blower fan which shoots fresh air down through a hole in the roof and around the combine operator. The air itself, of Kansas wheat fields is hot but the intensity of the blast produces rapid evaporation and Blackwell says the effect is very cooling. The fan is driven by a belt connecting it to the combine's elevator sprocket. (AP Photo).

K-9 Veteran Of Pacific Fighting Is Fatally Injured At Blooming Grove

Jack, a German police dog, one of the most popular pets in Blooming Grove, is dead.

Owned by the R. D. Garrison family, the six-year-old canine was a veteran of World War II, receiving an honorable discharge from the armed forces after service in the South Pacific.

Jack was raised by Garrison, a rural route carrier, according to Drew Gillen, Blooming Grove business man and former county commissioner. When the government was detaining and returned to his original owner in Blooming Grove. The dog has a tattoo mark on his side. The 100-lb. veteran went to school daily and was a welcome visitor at all the stores and homes of that community.

While asleep under an automobile Monday, the car was backed over him, inflicting wounds and hurts from which he died Wednesday night in a dog and cat hospital here.

Jack was interred in a box for a casket Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in a corner of the Garrison yard. His little friends—the school kids—gathered quantities of flowers as a token of their love and esteem of the dog.

And not only kids are grieving for Jack, either. The grown ups have raised enough money to purchase a suitable marker for the veteran.

Gillen brought Jack to the hospital in his pick-up truck after the accident and carried the body back to Blooming Grove Thursday.

Forms On Storage Loans And Cotton Insurance Here

ACA Administrator Bob Cliche made two announcements Tuesday of interest to Navarro county producers of cotton, oats, barley or wheat.

To those who raise the grain crops, Cliche announced that his office now has the forms and equipment for filling out purchase agreements and obtaining storage loans on oats, wheat or barley, and that an inspector is available.

The producer must come to the local office and fill out a worksheet before inspection can begin, Cliche pointed out.

The administrator reminded local cotton farmers that the county committee has signed an agreement with the FCIC to handle cotton crop insurance for 1950, and that applications for next year's crop can now be taken at his office.

Annexation Plans Of City Revealed By Legal Officer

"I have had several inquiries from those who reside in the areas recently annexed to the City as to when the annexation becomes effective, when they will have to pay taxes, and the approximate rate to be levied on property in those areas," said J. C. Jacobs, city attorney, said in a prepared statement issued for publication Wednesday.

"The annexation will become effective when the City Commission passes the ordinance canvassing the returns of the election for second reading. That is scheduled to take place on Tuesday, July 5, 1949," he said.

Continuing the statement pointed out that "Taxes will not be levied on property in this area for the year 1949. Their property will be placed on the 1950 tax rolls, and taxes will become due after October 1, 1950."

"All questions concerning the fairness of property valuations will come before the Board of Equalization in the summer of 1950."

"The tax rate will be approximately $1.25 on the $100.00 of taxable property, based on fifty percent of actual value. The tax rate could be a cent or two lower, but the variance should not be substantial, depending upon how much is needed for the interest and sinking fund."

"The outlying and annexed areas are not, as yet, a part of the Corsicana Independent School District, and school taxes are not considered in making public this statement."
